

MRS. WARREN G. HARDING IS DEAD

DEATH CLAIMS WIDOW OF 29TH U. S. PRESIDENT

STRIVE HARD TO REACH GOAL

End Came Peacefully This Morning at 8:55 o'Clock, Following Fight of Several Weeks For Her Life—Kidney Ailment Caused Her Death.

(By The Associated Press)
MARION, O., Nov. 21.—Florence Kling Harding, widow of Warren G. Harding, twenty-ninth chief executive of the United States, died here today.
The end came at 8:55 a. m. at the White Oaks sanitarium of Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, where she had been fighting for life for the last two weeks.
Mrs. Harding's death was due directly to a kidney ailment, from which she had suffered for several weeks and which nearly resulted fatally while she was mistress of the White House. She died peacefully, Dr. Sawyer said.
Dr. Sawyer's statement on the cause of death gave chronic nephritis, micturition and hydro-nephrosis. Filiform B. King, Mrs. Harding's brother, George B. Harding, Jr., who had been secretary to Mr. Harding; Mrs. Mary Sawyer, widow of Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, and Dr. Carl Sawyer were present when the end came.
Arrangements for the funeral were immediately taken over by her brother and Mr. Christian.
The funeral services will be held at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church at two o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. Jesse Spang, pastor of the church, will conduct the funeral services for President Harding, who is in charge. He will be assisted by Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of the Trinity Baptist church, of which Mr. Harding was a member. Mrs. Warren Harding had been a member of the Epworth Methodist church since childhood.
While no definite announcement has been made, it is expected that Mrs. Harding's body will be placed temporarily in the receiving vault in the Marion cemetery, alongside the body of her husband.
The body was removed from White Oaks sanitarium early today to the home of Mrs. Frank J. Longshore, a friend of the family, in East Church street.

The life-story of Florence Kling Harding, like an epic of struggle and achievement, was a record of continuous fight against great odds, and of continual accomplishments.
From the day she first faced the world in a pioneer home in the mid-west, until her death in a mid-western city, she was a woman of heavy responsibilities of the White House, she encountered hardships before which a less courageous spirit would have weakened into crab mediocrity.
During the whole time she was mistress of the Executive Mansion, Mrs. Harding combined with her social duties an unswerving allegiance to her convictions, and displayed in doing so a degree of fact which won her universal esteem.
"Say that we are just folks," she told newspapermen when they asked for a message to the people at the time of her husband's inauguration. "We are just folks, but when I enter the White House I propose to accept all of its social obligations and become the First Lady of the Land in truth as well as in name."
The full significance of that promise was known to but a few of her intimate friends. For years she had not seen a well day, and she had reached a time of life when she could not afford to be broken by the exactions of her position.
Nor did she interpret in any narrow sense the obligations of mutual helpfulness she had assumed when, in 1891 she became the wife of a struggling newspaper editor, and she gave more to the marriage partnership than a woman usually is able to contribute, and grown men in Marion today remember how she when they count the newspaper men who were her friends, and when the future President entered politics, she found new and unexpected ways of helping him. As a wife of a senator, she kept in touch with his work, and when he wanted help in Washington, besides maintaining her place fittingly in the social life of the capital.

Of those gathered around Mr. Harding when he entered the pre-convention campaign of 1920, there was none who kept better informed of what was done to further his candidacy than Mrs. Harding, who had been a close friend of the man who was to become President. She was even more to the men entrusted with management of the campaign. After the primaries in Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan, when they looked for some experienced politicians who advised the candidate to withdraw. But she was not one who believed in giving up once a fight had begun, and she was the one who knew most of the inside story of those trying weeks when she had the credit for keeping Mr. Harding in the race he was eventually to win.

After the nomination, Mrs. Harding became, in spite of the crowding threat of physical collapse, an active figure in the front rank campaign. Not only did she appear always with her husband when he faced the crowd, but she remained beside him when the lines formed to shake his hand, and gave a hand-clasp also to every one of the many thousands who flocked to acclaim his candidacy. She was the one who visited his headquarters almost daily and talked political policies with his advisers, and she entertained at her table many of the distinguished visitors who came to Marion and exchanged opinions on national issues with them over the telegraph.

From the time Mr. Harding became interested in politics, she made a study of things political just as she had familiarized herself previously.

MURDERER OF PATRICK GIRL KEEPS SILENT

Public Indignant In Section Where Crime Occurred

(Special to The Bee)
MARTINSVILLE, Va., Nov. 21.—John Wagoner remains a prisoner in the Henry county jail charged with the murder of Mary Whaling, the twelve year old daughter of Green Whaling of Dodson community, Patrick county. There has been no further development in the case so far as can be learned here, but it is reported that Wagoner's alleged confederate has not yet been captured and that public indignation in the section where the crime took place is being manifested in many ways.
Wagoner, according to local officers, has admitted that he shot the girl but last night and again today he declined to discuss the affair in any way. It is understood that he states that he was irrational from drink when he shot the little girl.
Wagoner and the unnamed man are said to have intercepted the girl who was riding a horse and to have attempted to attack her. In the fight, the girl was thrown from the horse and was riding forward and Wagoner, it is charged, shot her in the back causing her death in a few minutes.

ARBUCKLES TO BE DIVORCED

Wife Still Retains Faith In Innocence In Former Star

(Copyright, by Universal Service)
PARIS, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle will receive a Paris divorce early next month, but she still retains her faith in the innocence of the plump former movie star, who will return to the movies under a new contract next year.
Mrs. Arbuckle, it is learned, has been living here secretly in a flat on the outskirts of Paris. Her divorce proceedings have been conducted quietly, only a few of her closest friends knowing about it.
It is understood that "Fatty" Arbuckle is being backed by a big New York movie producer, who is scheduled to stage his movie comeback early next Spring in one of his old slap-dash comedies.
Mrs. Arbuckle, who was formerly Minta Durfee, has friends here that she has developed into a serious minded man and that he is deeply interested in religion.

Kissing Attempt Results In Fine By Judge Ker

(Special to The Bee)
CHATHAM, Va., Nov. 20.—Considerable feeling is said to have been caused over the court action here culminating in the assessing of a fine of five dollars on three men of this county on the charge that they attempted to kiss a Mrs. McDaniel, a Richmond resident, who was with them when they were arrested.

Sydnor's Trail Is Continued Until Monday

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 21.—The trial of Walter A. Sydnor for the murder of his bride of two months, was continued by Judge A. D. Dabney in Hustings Court here today until Monday. Judge Dabney, whose home is at Martinsville, is sitting in Hustings Court this week in the absence of Judge D. C. Richardson, who is ill at his home. He explained that he thought the case could not be completed by tomorrow night and that Judge John Hart, of Roanoke, will preside in the court beginning Monday, that he believed it should be continued so that the latter may also be present at the selection of the jury. The panel of twelve veniremen from which the jury will be selected was only half completed when Judge Dabney announced the continuance.

White House Flag Flies Half Mast

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—At the president's direction the flag at the White House will fly at half mast until after the funeral services Monday of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, who died this morning in Marion, O. Mr. Coolidge also sent Captain Adolphus Andrews, his naval aide, to Marion, to render such assistance as is necessary and designated Secretaries Weeks and Work to represent him at the funeral.
Postmaster General and Mrs. New, intimate friends of President and Mrs. Harding, are in Michigan and also are expected to attend the funeral services.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO FAIR WILL BE HEARD TODAY

The directors of the Danville Fair Association will tonight hear an accounting of the Fair event. The four o'clock meeting at half past four o'clock this afternoon at the Fair Grounds for the purpose of discussing some improvements to be made before the next fair. Later they will drive out to the Country Club where they will hear the report of Secretary Henry B. Watkins and a number of recommendations he has to make. The annual election of officers will be undertaken with A. D. Starling as presiding officer. The grading of the grounds, which was completed during the past several years, will be discussed. Mr. Watkins is expected to be re-elected as secretary and treasurer of the association.
Mr. Watkins' report to be submitted tonight will make several recommendations. These, to be specific, are as follows:
1. Grading grounds.
2. Feature cotton in premium list.
3. Sell display jars at cost to prospective exhibitors at our fair for displaying can goods preserves, etc.
4. Change children's day from Friday, the last day of the fair, to Tuesday, the first day of the fair.
5. Enlarge present rest room and provide one for colored people.
6. Arrange for a separate exhibit for colored people.
7. Consider advisability of putting on automobile show.
8. Arrange some plan for putting on campaign to sell season tickets for $2.50 during August or September.
9. Purchase electric display entrance to fair grounds.
10. Revision of the entire premium list.
The recognition given to cotton growing as a sectional industry is interesting and promises to be a new departure for the fair where cotton exhibits have been lacking heretofore. The grading of the grounds is also considered an important and it is understood that the directors are favorable to this improvement and will authorize the improvement so that grass may be sown without delay and the grounds rendered firm and given time to settle.
According to Mr. Watkins' report the last fair was the most successful in the history of the association. The receipts were $25,000 and the expenditure was $20,000. The fair was a success in every respect. The 1924 exhibits made the best balanced fair ever put on.

Miss Richmond Died Last Night

Private advices received this morning from Richmond brought word of the death there during the night of Miss Ellen Richmond, a former well-known resident of Danville who some years ago removed to the State capital where she had since lived. The remains are being brought to Danville and are expected to arrive on the Richmond train at 2:45 o'clock tonight. They will be taken tomorrow morning through the country to Milton where interment is to take place in the old family burying ground.

WEATHER FORECAST

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Virginia: Probably rain tonight and Saturday; slightly warmer tomorrow; cooler in west portion Saturday.
North Carolina: Unsettled tonight; rain in west portion; slightly warmer in north and extreme west portions; Saturday, partly cloudy in extreme west portion.

DRINK VARNISH

VIENNA.—A low-priced varnish, which has proved unsatisfactory to buyers, is now being thrown onto the market in the form of an extremely palatable liquor, police investigation has revealed. Stems were taken to stop the sale of the strange beverage until it was found to be free from harm.

Town Is Wide Open to Workers and Thorough Canvas Is Being Made to Bring Figure In Chest Drive to $61,000 Goal.

The Community Chest campaign today entered upon the last long drive of their effort to secure pledges to raising $61,000 needed by the nine organizations included in the general budget. It remained for them to secure slightly more than $18,000, the sum still needed yesterday evening to achieve the goal. Far from being discouraged, new zest was put into the campaign yesterday afternoon by realization that a good many people have not been solicited and that with the community "wide open" good results would be secured in the final effort. No midday luncheon was held this afternoon. Instead, the workers are to gather at 6 o'clock tonight for the purpose of making the final return after four days of incessant effort.
Lists were compiled last night of persons who gave to the Chest fund last year and who have not thus far given and it was planned to visit all of them. It is also known that several persons are to be re-solicited during the day.
Another incentive which is giving zest in the final stages of this campaign is the reported offer of the Dan River Mills to supply the Chest with $5,000 already donated and reported by the executive committee yesterday with $2,500 additional provided the workers get within striking distance of the goal. This has appealed to the spirit of rivalry among the workers and several with whom the present drive was discussed today expressed the belief that if all would work and remain in the field all day that the total can be secured.
Leaders of the movement spoke feelingly of the service rendered by the solicitors and of the "sacrifice" many of them have willingly undertaken to give their full time to the campaign.
The daily average subscribed on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday is no more than $14,200, whereas today a little more than $18,000 must be subscribed if the canvass is to "go over the top," as the workers say. The weather, however, is not so favorable. While there are some sources of revenue in groups whose combined contributions have not yet been reported but among which a system of canvassing is being made, there is a hope that some composite subscriptions may be reported today and a hope that some of the early subscribers may double or in lesser degree increase their subscriptions. But it is fully realized that the canvassers face their crucial test today and that is going to require patient, earnest and persistent work if the goal is to be reached by the final day.
The solicitation of small cash donations from every individual money-earner is another source from which in the aggregate of these funds the total may be increased. It is expected that a few persons from whom a contribution more or less large might be expected are absent from the city, and it is anticipated that on their return they will add their bit to the grand total.
Ladies Still Lead Competing Teams
Thus far the ladies' committee has excelled all of the committees of men canvassers, and their work today will be awaited with peculiar interest and expectancy. So far as known, none of the teams is carrying back reports of a successful canvass. On the contrary, it is believed the various teams and individuals engaged in the campaign have already reported a very small contribution. It is known that any pledged organization, club or society will report as a body an substantial lump subscription. Any such report will prove a most agreeable surprise, if any there be.
Entering the final day of the drive for the Community Chest, and armed with a complete new set of prospect cards, the workers are determined to complete their work by tonight when the final report-meeting will be held in which to work on the prospects. This meeting at 9:30 the Executive Committee and the captains and majorities of the teams will be present.

OVER 4 MILLION PAID OUT FOR TOBACCO THIS SEASON

The Danville tobacco market sold slightly more than three million pounds of tobacco during the past week, according to the weekly report prepared by Supervisor of Sales John B. Bostard and published this morning. The statistics show that 2,919,755 pounds were sold at an average price of $2.58, the average for the week being $2.49. Last week the sales totaled 2,198,564 pounds sold at an average price of $2.53. While the week's average showed a decline, the average for the season showed a ten percent increase. The sales on the Danville market for the entire season now foot up to 17,112,768 pounds, sold for $44,726,336, the average price being $2.61.
The advent of harsh weather has brought a breathing spell for buyers and warehousemen alike who for three weeks or more have been coping with an unusually congested market. The receipts have slackened noticeably during the past few days and today the floors will be cleared before five o'clock and the market made ready for next week's offerings.
Next week, however, will be a short one from the selling point of view as the Sales Committee has decided to close the market on Wednesday evening until the following Monday morning for the Thanksgiving holiday. This is usually done here. The date for the Christmas recess has not been determined and will be decided when the festive season is closer than it is at the present time.

CAPT. JNO. LAMB PASSES AWAY AT RICHMOND HOME

Was Well Known Here Where He Has Number of Relatives

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 21.—John Lamb, for sixteen years member of Congress from the third Virginia district, died at his home here early today. He had been ill for several weeks. Three sons and one daughter survive.
Mr. Lamb was born in Essex county but came to Richmond to live in early manhood and resided here since. He served as captain of the Charles City troop third regiment, Virginia cavalry, during the war between the states and afterwards took a permanent part in affairs of Confederate organizations. He served for several years as superintendent of the Confederate Memorial Institute and was a trustee of the Battle Abbey here. He was succeeded in Congress by Representative A. J. Montague, the incumbent from this district.
Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from St. Mark's Episcopal church and interment will be held in Hollywood cemetery here. The surviving children are Wm. C. Lamb, A. W. Lamb and Mrs. Hugh Woolfolk of Richmond and P. E. Lamb of Charleston, West Virginia.
Captain Lamb, as deceased was generally known, has a number of relatives living in this city, who were informed of his death. Captain Lamb was widely acquainted in Danville having been a frequent visitor. He is related by marriage to Mrs. W. W. Williams and to the family of John Spencer and others. His wife was formally Miss Mattie Wade, daughter of the late Anderson Wade.

Interesting Point Raised In Seizure of Car In Henry

The Virginia Court of Appeals recently decided an interesting point of law bearing on the construction of the state liquor law. Some months ago an automobile was seized by officers while it contained liquor and was taken to the State capital for forfeiture proceedings. Judge Clement ordered the machine sold, but an appeal was taken.
The point involved was the recognition of the lien on the car recorded in the State of North Carolina. The car belonged to the Twin City Motor Company and both the owner and the mortgagee are residents of that state. The court at Martinsville ruled in favor of the State, holding that the Virginia lien on the car on account of the North Carolina lien. The Supreme Court has reversed the decision and the case is sent back for further proceedings.

Lecture By Dr. Lipscomb.

The Shakespeare Club held its weekly meeting Thursday afternoon at the Country club, where the rooms were filled with members and guests to hear Dr. Herbert Lipscomb, of Randolph-Macon Woman's college, Lynchburg, speak on the "Poetry of Horace." Dr. Lipscomb was introduced by Mrs. Louis L. Kaufman, who spoke in happy verse, the also being a student of the classics, and an alumna of Randolph-Macon Woman's college, was aware of the treat in store from one of her most honored teachers.

Dr. Lipscomb said he was glad to give this lecture in Danville, before an audience of Danville people, where he first became an ardent student of Latin, in the Danville schools. He read selections from the poetry of Horace, and gave a sketch of his character, and the early influences which developed the wonderful spirit which has lived on through his writings, influencing the minds of many others, such as Kipling and others who have paid glowing tribute to the influence of his lyrics.

Visitors Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Dula entertained at lunch Thursday at the Country club having as their guests a few friends of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb C. Dula, of New York, who were here for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Dula, and also Dr. and Mrs. Wightman, of New York, who were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Julian M. Robinson.

After luncheon at the Country club the party motored to the Golf club where the afternoon was spent playing golf and bridge.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Caleb C. Dula, of New York; Dr. and Mrs. Wightman, of New York; Mrs. Farnshaw, of Petersburg; Mrs. Julian Robinson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. James I. Fletcher, of New York; Mrs. James G. Penn, Jr., of New York; Mrs. Henry Watkins, of New York; Mrs. Archibald D. Keen, of New York; C. D. Neill, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunnington, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Perkins, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Perkins, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Booth, W. B. Fitzgerald, Col and Mrs. O. W. Dudley.

Girl Sings to Keep Up Morale

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 20.—The story of a girl singing while facing death in an open boat at sea to keep up the courage of her ship-knocked companions was brought to Norfolk in a brief radio message from the steamer City of Atlanta. The girl was 18 year old Kathleen Woodworth of Rockport, Mass. The steamer picked up Miss Woodworth, another woman and five men Wednesday morning 150 miles off the Virginia capes. They had been adrift in an open storm-tossed lifeboat since Monday night when their ship, the three masted schooner Susan B., coal laden from Hampton Roads to St. Stephens, N. B., went down in the severe storm that swept the coast the first of the week. These in the boat beside Miss Woodworth were Captain L. B. Bishop and his wife, both of Providence, August Sylvia, and John Bishop, also of Providence; Wilbur S. Jerrod, of Vineyard Haven and A. Malani, a Hawaiian.

The crew and passengers of the Susan B. abandoned their vessel in a blinding snow storm, and were at the mercy of the elements from Monday night until Wednesday morning. They had little food and suffered intensely from the cold. Messages sent from the rescue ship to relatives told briefly of the heroism of Miss Woodworth during the trying hours they battled to keep afloat. The girl, fearing her companions would give up the fight, time and time again sang to them and kept their spirits up until the rescue ship came into sight.

The Susan B. sailed from Hampton Roads Sunday.

UNSUCCESSFUL WIVES—NO. 5

The Woman Who Always "Razzed" Her Husband

By CYNTHIA GREY

When the Fergussons first moved into our neighborhood they were popular. But, couple by couple, everyone seems to have dropped them. I think that the Browns and ourselves are the only people who see much of them any more.

I was a long time trying to figure out the cause of their unpopularity, but last Sunday night I think I discovered it.

We were asked to their house for tea. Mrs. Fergusson came to the door in a cute little frilly apron.

"Run up to my room to take off your things," she said, "I must watch the muffins."

When I came down she was setting out ashtrays and clearers in the living room.

"Just sit down and talk to the men," she said to me. "Not having a cook, I can't be much of a hostess."

Out in the cute little kitchen there were cold baked ham and chicken on a huge platter. There were salad, and sandwiches, and chocolate cake.

"I would have all this work done but I had to stop and make those muffins," Mrs. Fergusson said to me. "I asked Bill to bring me some from the delicatessen this afternoon but his mind was on his golf game, and he forgot to get them. Do you let your husband play golf?"

"He prefers tennis," I said. "Golf's terribly expensive." Mrs. Fergusson sighed, as we sat down to supper. "We can't afford a maid any more, but I notice that Bill still has all the golf that he wants."

I saw Bill Fergusson flush darkly. But he couldn't have been more embarrassed than I as I thought how much the food we were eating had cost them.

"Business is rotten just now," Bill said to me as if to explain why they couldn't afford a maid.

"Tours is, anyway," snapped his wife.

We left as soon as we decently could. I never have spent a more unhappy evening. And I never have pitied anyone more than I did Bill Fergusson under his wife's remarks.

I wonder if she knows that to scold her husband in public doesn't humiliate him any more than is embarrassing her guests.

A great many wives do it, too—in a little, smiling sort of way. And they are the most unsuccessful wives I know.

The woman who doesn't stand up for her husband at all times is a total failure as a wife and a comrade.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM PAULA PERIER TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT, CONTINUED

I am sure our baby is not a child of destiny because you and I, my dear, are very ordinary human creatures and we had nothing to lay at the feet of Fate to make her give any more to our child than thousands of other misguided men and women who have not counted on the future while living wholly in the glamor of the present.

I have come to the conclusion that all this which is to be our boy's is because of your wife Leslie—I am not sure that she would like me to call her Leslie, but I do it to myself and to my God when I think Him for her daily.

It is not to you, John Prescott, that I owe my belief in a God and a feeling that somewhere sometime something everything will be all right, but to your wife.

The other night I heard a man—a moving picture actor—talk upon the new kind of religion which has for its basis one's attraction of the All-good to oneself. The theory being that if you are good, that if you acknowledge that all is good within you, you can not help but have all the good you ask for and believe is yours.

To us little Jack was a burden. He was a constant reminder of our sin. I loved him more than anything in my life, but I never thought of that love without more or less unhappiness. I could always see the bar sinister across his forehead.

With Leslie it has all been different. She loves you much more than I ever did who do not love you the least little bit now. She loved you so much that she could love your child without prejudice. Her love was better than mine ever was and because "she loved much" I almost feel that even my sins have been vicariously forgiven me.

So you are strange thing that I have been writing to you an entirely different letter than I intended. What I meant to say was that little Jack having become a very rich baby, he doesn't need anything that I can do for him. He has love, wealth and position and the best thing that I can give to him now will be to forget that he ever was mine just as I have ever lived before I came to this beautiful place.

When I know you I was still quite French. If you remember I could not speak the language without putting it into French idioms. Today I am entirely American—except when I want to be French.

So you are going over to Pittsburgh to live and little Jack will probably be one of the great captains of industry of the future. You will probably take him into the plant as soon as he comes out of college.

For once I have written you just what was in my heart, I am not going to write you again—unless something comes up which is very important to me.

I dare you to tell Leslie that you have received a letter from me and that I am sending my love to her because I know that God has been good to me in letting me know at least one good woman who is not a bore—in letting me know one good woman who is worth all the men in the world.

FANCY BOXES MAKE IDEAL XMAS GIFTS to make the cover design.

If you like you may make the top of cardboard covered like the bowl, instead of the glass cover. This can be made easier with paste than with thread.

A cigaret box for the library table may be evolved from an empty wood or pasteboard, or even tin box. Heavy tan linen is glued over the foundation and the edges are bound with ribbon.

A design for the center can be cut from a piece of cretonne and applied with glue. A monogram would be equally effective.

Lamp shades can be used to make the sewing baskets, above, while a glass bowl can be utilized for making an attractive powder container, shown below.

Maple Nut Caramels

Two and one-half cups brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 cup butter, 3/4 cup red label corn sirup, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup cream, 1 cup broken nut meats, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt one cup of sugar over a low fire. Stir in cream of tartar and stir continuously while melting. Stir in remaining sugar, butter, corn sirup and milk. Cook, stirring almost constantly until the sirup forms a hard ball when tried in cold water. The drop of sirup in the water must be hard and firm between the fingers.

Add cream and cook until the sirup cracks when tried in cold water. Stir constantly after adding cream and keep the fire low. Remove from the fire, stir in nuts and pour into a well-buttered dripping pan. Let stand several hours in a cold place. Cut into squares and wrap in oil paper.

Another type of basket begins with an inverted lamp shade, covered as the first with seam binding. Then a taffeta lining is placed to the frame, each pleat being caught at the top and the bottom.

All the edges are bound and silk pockets are added for holding sewing accessories. This is very attractive in rose colored silk and gold braid.

Powder Container
A glass bowl with a flat top may be covered with fancy ribbon on the outside to make a powder container that would grace any dressing table.

Plain and figured ribbons are used the plain ribbon being put on with overlapping edges and the fancy used another ribbon bow on the top for a handle.

Then catch strips of black velvet on the inside of the cover for inserting sewing articles such as scissors, thimble, and thread. Cover all the seams and edges with golooin.

Then put in a cardboard bottom and line the basket with red satin and cover the outside with theatrical gauze. It may be sewed or glued into place.

Cardboard Top
Cut a cardboard top and fit over the top and form a cover and cover it like the shade, fastening it at the back with a red ribbon bow using with the Marion Star printing plant, and when the neighbors noticed their heads and related how the young editor's wife had promised her intimates on her wedding day that "some day I will make him President."

Both before and after she entered the White House the wounded war veteran had been her particular care, and more than one owes to her his rehabilitation, possibly his life itself, and certainly his interest in life. She made a study of their treatment and was instrumental in founding the Veterans' Bureau and the establishment of a better system of hospital treatment.

The wounded men at Walter Reed Hospital, on the outskirts of Washington, were paid many surprise visits by their friends, laden with fruits and flowers. Weekly, huge bouquets were sent also to other nearby hospitals.

She was passionately fond of children and devoted much of her time to the study of their care and protection. She was intensely interested in the public school system. When a serenade by Washington school children to the President was broken up by a terrific downpour she invited them into the East Room of the White House where they went through their program. The children crowded close to her, and she shared her seat with a proud little Miss of eight, while others sat on the floor at her feet.

Mrs. Harding was born in Marion, Ohio, in 1860, of a sturdy stock of pioneers, her father, Amos Kline, being one of the town's first settlers. She married Mr. Harding in 1891 when things did not look too bright for him. He had just taken over the ownership of the Marion Star, and it was loaded down with mortgages and still had to make a place for itself in the community. She never had been used to extravagance, however, and she immediately turned to the task of helping put the newspaper on a sound basis. She went to work in the business office, and soon was in charge of advertising and circulation, buying the print, paper, and other supplies, and even standing by the presses and instructing the carriers before they started on their routes. She mothered the club established for the carrier boys, one of whom, answering to the name of Baldinger, entered the army, rose to the rank of Major and was later detailed at the White House as military aide to the President. Another was George Christian, who became the President's private secretary.

In her younger days she had been an expert horsewoman and an accomplished pianist. Many musicians she always remembered, and she took in them. While in Marion she taught music, and many of the boys and girls of her home town were her pupils. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, but was very tolerant of others, and as the President was a Baptist, it was the custom of the Hardings to attend the Calvary Baptist Church in Washington.

It was from her training as a horsewoman that she acquired the love for animals which became more and more marked in later years. In the White House "Laddie Boy," the President's pet dog, was a constant companion. More than once she stepped on the street to reprimand drivers who were punishing their horses. At least one horse, Clover, who lived willing to attest to would have been willing to attest to her compassion. Hearing that Clover was 51 years old, was about to be killed because his master was unable to provide for him in his days of useless old age, she sent him a $100 check to assist in keeping him in comfort to the end of his days.

Mrs. Harding was active in philanthropic circles. She devoted much of her time to girls' work and was the national head of the Girl Scouts organization. The most severe test of Mrs. Harding's fortitude was during the final illness and death of President Harding and the trying ordeal that followed—the crossing of the trip with the body of her husband and the funeral at Marion, Ohio.

Mrs. Harding had hardly recovered from an illness during which her life hung in the balance when it came time for the President to start upon what proved to be a final trip, that to Alaska. Because of her devotion to her distinguished husband and unimpaired of her own physical condition she accompanied him on this journey and was constantly by his side. During the President's illness at San Francisco, she never left him for a minute and it was she who summoned the physicians when the change came that finally resulted in death.

President Harding was the second husband of Mrs. Harding. Her first was Henry de Wolfe, whose parents were neighbors of the Kline family. This marriage, contracted early in life, proved to be unhappy, and the future mistress of the White House obtained a divorce in 1885 on the grounds of gross neglect. One son, Marshal Eugene de Wolfe, lived to manhood. His death occurred at Kersey, Colorado, in 1911.

JUGOSLAVIA AND TURKEY

BELGRADE.—The Belgrade Press publishes news from Constantinople that the Turkish Government has requested the Jugoslavians to permit representatives to leave Turkey. The reason for this action is that Jugoslavia has so far not recognized the Lausanne Treaty. The Jugoslav Government considers that all territorial and financial questions were settled by the London treaty. In Belgrade circles it is held that this will render Jugoslav-Turkish relations more difficult.

LOEB AND LEOPOLD NO LONGER POSE AS SUPERMEN

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
(NEA Service Writer.)

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 20.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., have quit posing.

They have awakened to the enormity of their crime.

Fellow prisoners have taken the conceit out of them. John L. Whitman, warden of the prison, has quickened their consciences.

Before coming here to spend "life and 99 years," the two young intellectuals simply made a grand gesture at existence. They said they knew no God, no law, no master, no restraint.

But, as guards at the penitentiary will tell you:

"That's a lot of bunk. They're just two fresh kids."

Quite a step-down that, from the role of supermen. Quite a leap from moneyed glory to anonymous station in the city of the "living dead."

Neither Ever Will Be a Trusty.

Loeb and Leopold, to me, as the agent of the state to punish and reform them, mean no more than any other prisoners," the warden says.

"They are at the bottom of the scale in grade and will rise under our merit system, they deserve it."

"I have not both boys in the chair factory. They are in different parts of the building, however, and do separate work."

"Loeb runs a drilling machine and makes the holes in the bottom of the chairs into which the legs of Leopold is in the rattan section and makes the chair bottoms."

"Their next advance is to the new prison. Over there are a number of cell houses where jurisdiction and supervision lessons are advanced. The highest type prisoner is the trusty. He works on our honor farm without guard."

"Loeb and Leopold never will attain this grade. Their crime was too spectacular. Fellow prisoners would set traps for them into which they would fall and incur the displeasure of the prison officials.

"Loeb had a better chance to adapt himself. He started in making more chair bottoms than ever had been made before in a single day by any other prisoner. But that had to be stopped."

"The other prisoners would have grown to hate him if he had been allowed to continue. They would have 'framed' him."

"It is hard to explain such things to one unfamiliar with prison life. But those who have been around prisoners understand them."

He Breaks Their Superman Complex.

As keeper of this nameless city, Whitman started to invade the egotism of the two killers as soon as they were admitted.

Whitman has a way with convicts. He has worked with them and for them for 35 consecutive years in various penal institutions. More than 200,000 prisoners have passed through his hands.

"We will make Loeb and Leopold subservient. Their supermen exaggeration must be broken. They must realize that now it is the people of the state they must obey."

That is what the warden said when they came in. And he has done it.

In achieving his purpose he has resorted to no punishment. In fact, never has he raised his voice.

Whitman is regarded as one of the most influential authorities on penology in the country.

Whatever the future may hold for Loeb and Leopold rests in his hands. The warden expects to make use of Loeb and Leopold as full-time teachers if they prove themselves worthy. But that will be only after the new $10,000,000 model penitentiary is completed.

The Walls Have Awakened Them.

If Loeb and Leopold can't adapt themselves as teachers there is plenty of office work into which they may fit. But to graduate from the manual labor into a job requiring brain work, they shall first have to prove themselves worthy.

"So far both have been model prisoners. I think we have broken down their silly superman complex."

Whitman is a believer in kindness and the prisoners call his wife an "angel."

Loeb and Leopold have come to idolize her.

The Whitmans sit with convicts when they attend chapel and they march to the communion rail with convicts.

Whitman is a gray-haired kindly faced man who neither mollycoddles nor brutalizes. Prisoners are free to come to him and explain their difficulties. He always tells them to get their grievances "off their chest."

He has had Loeb and Leopold in for one of "the family interviews."

Since then Bobbie Franks' murderers have undergone a noticeable change in behavior.

"I caught Loeb blubbering in his cell the other night," a guard said. "Guess the walls have awakened 'em up. They always do sooner or later."

South Boston

(Special to The Bee.)

SOUTH BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Sales at the warehouses this week have been heavy, although the inclement weather has prevented many who intended selling from getting here. The sales were good on Thursday. Prices continue good and the farmers are well pleased with them. A large number of farmers have brought tobacco here which was taken in at a nearby large market on account of low prices. Many farmers are bringing their tobacco here from large territories.

ADD MACHINE EXPERTS STAGE CONTEST HERE

H. E. Ferguson, Jr., Is City's Speediest and Most Accurate Lister

H. E. Ferguson, Jr., of the American National Bank, is Danville's speediest and most accurate lister on the adding machine. This was determined last night at an interesting meeting of the Danville Chapter, American Banking Institute, which staged a contest in the lobby of the First National Bank. The Burroughs Adding machine offered a silver cup for the Danville bank clerk who could list two hundred checks the quickest and without error. Other prizes were offered to men and women making mistakes and last night the adding machines went about their calculations as rarely they have done in Danville before. Ferguson added up his pile of checks in three minutes and 39 seconds, which is considered unusually fast time. Another, however, made slightly quicker time, but he made an error of fifty cents and was thus disqualified.

W. W. Adams and M. W. Thompson represented the manufacturing company while Giles H. Miller, S. A. Maynard and C. G. Evans held the stop watch and acted as judges.

Twenty-eight took part in the adding contest. L. C. Horne, of the First National Bank, won the second prize, a $2.50 gold piece, while Mrs. Margaret Jackson, of the First National, carried off the honors in the ladies' class and won the $2.50 gold piece while Miss Elizabeth Turner, of the American National, came second and won a box of candy.

G. R. Dudley, president of the chapter, offered the gold prizes, and B. V. Booth the box of candy. At the close of the contest the prizes were awarded by Professor Evans. The silver trophy bears the following inscription: "Presented to the Danville Chapter American Institute of Banking by the Burroughs Adding Machine Company for the winner in speed and accuracy in listing."

The standing of the first eight competitors is as follows:

H. E. Ferguson, American National Bank, 3 minutes, 39 seconds.
L. C. Horne, First National, 3 minutes, 44 seconds.
L. E. Norborn, First National, 3 minutes, 53 seconds.

Travis Vestbrooks, The Commercial, 4 minutes, 10 seconds.
W. A. Weller, First National, 4 minutes, 23 seconds.

Charles Ragland, Commercial, 4 minutes, 45 seconds.

Good Morning Judge!

Arch Echols was given a hearing this morning in the police court on a charge of violating the Layman act and was convicted. He was fined $5 and costs and given thirty days in jail, the jail term being suspended. Echols noted an appeal.

Walter Phelps, drew a fine of $2.50 and costs on an assault charge. Tom Currie, colored, was acquitted of a charge of creating a disturbance.

The Executive Committee reported $5,000 which, brought the grand total for the three days up to $42,898.50.

NORFOLK DRIVE SLOW

(By The Associated Press)

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 21.—With three days work having brought into the coffers of the community fund only $138,000 workers for the movement are faced with the necessity of making average collections for remaining days of the drive of almost $60,000.

Fund leaders admit that the prospect is not exactly rosy, but assert that with the workers maintaining the enthusiastic activity which thus far has characterized their efforts they will be able to raise the $310,000 required to carry on the city's charitable work for 1925, before the drive ends Monday night.

The 800 men and women who are performing the actual work of obtaining the subscriptions and donations to the fund, are today making every effort to reach the desired average, and as a result increased activity on the part of the sixteen teams is to be expected.

In order to raise the average of slightly less than $60,000 per day, the workers will have to obtain far more each day than they have yet been able to get on any one day, the average collections for the early part of the week being slightly more than $40,000.

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted trust expert, will personally be at the Burton Hotel, and will remain in Danville, Wednesday only, Nov. 26th. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects—immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Warning—all cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate without charge or at them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section."

Mapp and Byrd Are Likely Aspirants

Announcement a few days ago by Lieutenant-Governor J. E. West, of Nansemond county, that he had reconsidered his announced purpose to be a candidate for the governorship at the August Democratic primary of 1925 and would instead be a candidate for the governorship and filling date for re-nomination for Lieutenant-governor, considerably cleared the political atmosphere. With the presidential election in the past, the lines are forming for next year's political struggle, but with indications at this time that it will narrow down to a two-man contest for the gubernatorial nomination.

At one time Attorney General J. R. Saunders, of Middlesex; Lieutenant Governor West, of Nansemond, and State Senator Walter Mapp, of Accomac, patron of the widely known Mapp act, forerunner of the present more rigid Layman prohibition law, were all tentatively announced candidates for the governorship. With three aspirants from the Tidewater section of the State, it then seemed assured that one or more additional candidates from other geographical grand-divisions of the State would announce, but the futility of three Tidewater aspirants dividing the vote of eastern Virginia caused Mr. Saunders first to reconsider and conclude to aspire for another term as attorney general. Now that Mr. West has also concluded to try to hold what he has in the matter of high elective office, Senator Mapp is only east-Virginian still an avowed candidate. While all three were regarded as likely to aspire, it was suggested that Governor Davis would also shy his bid into the ring and essay a comeback, but in the changed situation now existing it is anticipated that the Loudoun man will undertake to pull off a stunt unprecedented in Virginia political history.

But Senator Mapp is not likely to be handed the nomination on a silver platter, with an "If you please"; that is to say an uncontested nomination for an honor which has always been eagerly sought in this State, despite its unannounced candidacy. It has been widely anticipated that State Senator Harry Flood Byrd, would a what he deemed the opportune moment, announce his gubernatorial candidacy. In a statement he issued about the beginning of the campaign, Mr. Byrd, who is Democratic State chairman, left the impression, whether intentionally or unintentionally, that he might have an announcement to make after the national campaign had closed. Nothing that he said at that time is open to a construction that he would inevitably aspire to the governorship, but his abilities and character and his prominence as the proponent and protagonist of the "Pay-as-you-go" plan of road construction, together with the test of that plan, are regarded by many as pointing him out as a likely if not the logical contestant with Senator Mapp for the honor.

Should Mr. Byrd announce for the honor, men in touch with the political conditions deem it unlikely that a third candidate will aspire. In any event! it is not likely that the pre-primary campaign will be launched until after the opening of the new year.

Kidneys Need Lots Of Water at Times

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers
Also Take a Little Salts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

Felix Carter Dies Alone in His Home

Felix B. Carter, 61 years old and well known about town, was found dead about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in his home at 430 North Union street. Examination of the body indicated that he had been dead ten or twelve hours. Apparently he had risen from bed early yesterday morning and may have been in the act of dressing when a sudden seizure caused a collapse of the heart. His wife was away from home at the time having gone on Wednesday to visit friends at Mountain Hill. Mr. Carter was formerly employed as gate-man at the Linn Street crossing of the Southern railway, but quit that position about two months ago. It is learned.

Discovery of the fatality was made by persons in the neighborhood, who are said to have peered under the doorway and perceived the form of the man lying on the floor. The police were notified and on effecting an entrance, the body was found to have been lifeless for hours, rigor mortis having long before developed. In his overcoat pocket in the room was found a half-pound of uncooked meat which he had apparently brought home Wednesday night with the intention of preparing it for his morning meal. He was alone in the house at the time. Mr. Carter had long been a sufferer from asthma and it is assumed that this weakened the heart action, with the result that when he arose from the bed, which shows signs of having been occupied the night before the fatal stroke came without warning. The body was clothed in a flannel shirt, drawers and socks, but whether he had slept in these or had begun dressing and donned these garments when the sudden summons came must remain a matter of conjecture.

City Coroner J. E. Taylor, M. D., was notified, but after an examination of the body and an inquiry in the vicinity, decided that death had been natural and that no occasion existed for an inquest. The body was turned over to T. A. Fox & Son, undertakers, for burial.

An interesting coincidence is that one of Carter's brothers died about four years ago under almost identical conditions. Felix Carter is survived by four children besides his wife. None of the children reside here, it is said.

Well, in Cleveland, a man was jailed for spanking his own child. Just the same, others should be jailed for not spanking.

Kidnap Two Men in Try to Find Booze

Three white men and a negro are said to have driven up to the old Motley place, beyond Liberty Hill, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in a big Buick car, called Lester Motley out and levelling guns on him, forced him to enter the car. Then they drove away. Later, it is said, they drove to Doughertytown, just beyond Pumpkin creek, of the Vanceville road, and there one of the party got out and talked to Will Dougherty. Re-entering the car, the party drove to the home of A. R. Willie, drew revolvers on him and coerced him into entering the car, as they had previously done Motley.

Later the four men, according to the police, released Motley and Willie on the promise of the latter that they would put up $150, the valuation placed by the alleged kidnapers on the thirty gallons of liquor, on account of the disappearance of which the four men are said to have resorted to their bold adventure of seizing the two men and compelling them to accompany the quartet. It seems that on Wednesday afternoon, on early evening a party of men believed to be the same four, were driving on the River road when they were seen by Willie, who was driving in Motley's car, to stop and unload something from the car. That something, it later developed, was thirty gallons of illicit liquor, which those having it are said to have unloaded and hid in the bushes near the road.

The men unloading the suspicious packages evidently noted the number of the car Willie was driving and, later, when they went to the cache where their liquor had been deposited and found it missing, they resolved to ascertain the identity of the owner of the car and then boldly make him disgorge, or restore the missing liquor. Evidently Motley, after being kidnapped and charged with the seizure or removal of the hidden liquor, explained that it was his car on the River road Wednesday evening, but that Willie was driving it, hence the later seizure of Willie.

According to the story of the police last night, Motley or Willie or both of them, after securing their release from detention on a promise to pay $150 to the putative owners of the booze, went instead and reported the matter to the police department. Thereupon Sergeant H. T. Haraway, Officer W. S. Edwards and Police Detective J. C. Lewis, Traffic Sergeant Floyd Towell, Police Chief Cole and Officer Swangin, of the Schoolfield police department, secured a motorcar early last evening and, accompanied by Willie, went to the scene of the liquor incident of the night before and there found the booze intact in a corn-field not far from the River road. The officers took custody of the liquid and brought it back to town with them.

Realizing that the developments in this surprising case were matters within county jurisdiction, the Danville department turned the further prosecution of the inquiry over to the Schoolfield officers. County Officers J. W. Pugh and Melton and Sergeant Towell and Patrolman Brax of the Danville force left last night for Martinsville, accompanied by Willie in an effort to identify the alleged kidnappers, who are assumed also to be the men who concealed the liquor near the River road. Probably the promised remuneration for the liquor, exacted of Motley and Willie may be used as a means of apprehending the men who hid it originally, the theory being that the two escaped subjects of forcible seizure are fulfilling their pledge to pay $150 for the liquor.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1924.
TIME TO SNAP INTO IT
Extraordinary apathy is being recorded over the response to the adjusted compensation bill passed by the last Congress. Out of the four and a half million service men who are entitled to this compensation are only a million and a half have registered their claims. The War Department anticipating a rush when the bill was passed, added to the adjutant's staff so as to be able to cope with 30,000 applications each day but they have never come in, we are informed, at a greater rate than 9,000 a day. Danville is in the third corps area with headquarters at Baltimore. Within this area are 300,000 men who are entitled to government compensation under the terms of the bill but thus far only about one-fourth of the eligibles have filed their applications.

Servicemen would be well advised to conform with the provisions of the act without delay for, it is pointed out in a bulletin sent from headquarters, the serviceman stands a possibility of loss by not acting promptly. Quoting from the announcement we learn:

"The important part of the law is that if an ex-serviceman delays before filing his application the amount of cash equal to his adjusted service value application is on file for his dependents. It is his certificate which will be paid to his dependents. It is a difference of approximately $1,000.00. So it is to the advantage of ex-servicemen to fill out their applications at once."

"The examiner of Claims, Veterans Bureau, is a case in point. He could have made his application in five minutes. He did not. He put it off until tomorrow. One morning he was taken with a chill, brought home, in two days he was dead. His wife was awarded $600.00 distributed over a period of about five years. Had he filed his application he would have drawn $1,500.00 cash on January 1st, 1925."

Reasons for the delays are manifold. There is of course that element which never favored the adjusted compensation and which persists in ignoring it, being determined to make no application. Others have had their experience in the maze of governmental red tape and are chary about experiencing the annoyances which they have been through before. Others fail to understand the application blank but this difficulty can be readily overcome as the officers of every Legion Post are prepared to assist their fellow buddies in filling out the blanks, provided the serviceman has ready all pertinent data required in the application.

WOODS FOR THE CORPORATION COMMISSION
(Roanoke Times.)
Virginia's new corporation commission should be gratified over the announcement of the candidacy of Colonel James P. Woods for the State Corporation Commission. The commission has been greatly weakened by the loss of Mr. Alexander Forward, and secondly, the approaching retirement of Judge Rhea's post by a man who, by his ability and by his state-wide reputation for public service, will carry prestige to the post. It would be difficult to find in the entire state a man better qualified to succeed Judge Rhea than Colonel Woods. He is an outstanding success in business and in the legal profession. He is a man of considerable experience in public life, and his reputation as a sane and able legislator is spread far beyond Virginia during his several years in Washington. Only a sincere desire to be of real service to the state could persuade Colonel Woods to become a candidate for the commission. The post would demand the breaking of his business connections and home ties with Roanoke. Yet he seems to have been persuaded to make the sacrifice, because the commission offers the opportunity for the sort of public service which appeals to him, and Virginia should rejoice that a man of such a high type can be attracted into public service.

At the Democratic State Convention in Norfolk last June, Colonel Woods attracted state-wide attention by his key-note address, which was by all odds the high spot of the convention and has been brought forward time and

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Salesmen To Sell America!

I recently took a 3 000 mile motor trip on business. But I mixed business with observation.
I saw new things in cities and understood states anew. But my wonder and love for America as a place of beauty was reserved until I took the National Highway through Pennsylvania and Maryland to Baltimore.

At the top of an emountain we saw the edges of four States and for miles and miles landscapes of golden and green fields fringed with the magnificence of the most beautiful autumn I have ever seen: Soft and mellow shadows, trees that looked like lace silhouetted against the distant horizon, cows grazing, streams that sparkled in valleys, roads that crept and wound for miles and miles only to be lost among the colors of the hills.

Then there were the old stone taverns and toll gates of a hundred years ago. Quaint buildings that looked so fresh and clean were often hidden in valleys far from the road and hovering behind hanging willows.

There were farms that reflected the pride of their owners, stock that looked so happy and contented in such a setting.
I have marveled at the beauty and greatness of the Canadian Rockies, I have become lost in thought and love over the spectacle of the plains and the indescribable glories of the West, but here on this National Highway I saw something new and thrilling.

I said to my friend: "America needs salesmen to sell America to itself!"
Two days from New York City or Indianapolis and you are in a real "Garden of the Gods."
America is richest in beauty and in men and women.
(Copyright, 1924.)

again by Virginians all over the state as that of a man who ought to be drawn into public life. At a time when really capable men are being drawn out of public service instantly, Virginia voters cannot afford to lose this opportunity for securing the services of a man of such outstanding ability as Colonel Woods.

To young men who are wasting their precious time, and to parents who are neglecting their children's health, we recommend the following from "Forty Years in Newspaper Autobiography" of Milton A. McRae, the newspaper publisher-genius:

CHICAGO HAS AWAKENED
(New York Times)
When Chicago's criminal classes assembled last week and paid high honors to one of their most eminent representatives who had died characteristically with six bullets adroitly distributed among the more essential parts of his body, they showed that lack of sense and discretion which is the distinguishing mark of criminals of all kinds.

Dion O'Banion's amazing funeral was a defiance which Chicago's police and other municipal authorities could not allow to pass unnoticed. With commendable but somewhat belated energy they have started a real campaign against their murderers, hold-up men and bootleggers, and now seemingly are making life really difficult for the gentry who hitherto have been able to carry on their activities without much interference from the law.

The first measure taken there has been the one threatened here—the arrest of anybody known by the police to make a profession of crime, regardless of whether or not those arrested are at the time breaking any law. It is not surprising that the Chicago police expect the prisoners so apprehended to be released as soon as they appear in court, the judges, as a matter of fact, being able to do nothing else, such cases, either in Chicago or elsewhere. But no suits for false arrest are likely—unless the police make some bad mistakes—and the crooks released are to be taken into custody again and released again until they find the situation intolerable and seek new fields.

The carrying out of this policy anywhere is given to several serious objections, but as a desperate remedy for a desperate case probably it is defensible. It is well to remember, however, that merely to drive a criminal from one place to another does not change his nature, and that it is pretty hard on the place to which he is driven.

JUST FOLKS

Belief
When out of life the laughter goes,
And sorrow's winds blow bleak and cold,
And steal from lovely cheeks the rose,
And with death's seal fair eyelids close,
Then to your faith can you not hold?
Have you not courage and belief
To brave your winter-time of grief?
The barren fields shall green again
In silent trees the birds shall nest;
The soil life's seeds shall remain,
Bleak with eternal gloom and pain;
Are roses more than mortals' bliss?
Not so! For us who feel death's sting
God keeps a lovelier, ampler spring!

NOT SO MANY YEARS AGO
PST! THERE GOES ELMER FLIMP! THEY SAY HE'S A COMMON GAMBLER—PLAYS CARDS FOR MONEY! HE'LL COME TO NO GOOD END YOU MARK MY WORDS
DEAR! DEAR! WHAT A PITY! HE HAD SUCH BRIGHT PROSPECTS TOO. WELL, IT JUST SHOWS WHAT SMOKING CIGARETTES AND RUNNING AROUND WITH LOW COMPANIONS WILL DO

AND NOW
I DROPPED IN AT KATE'S YESTERDAY AND PLAYED SIX RUBBERS. WAS I HOOKED? I'LL TELL THE WORLD I WAS! LOST FIVE RUBBERS. IF GEORGE KNEW WHAT I WAS BUMPED FOR HE'D KILL ME. THE OLD DEAR IS SO STRAIGHTLACED HE WON'T PLAY FOR MORE THAN THREE CENTS A POINT. IMAGINE!
WHY, FRANK WOULD HAVE A FIT IF HE KNEW WHAT I PLAYED FOR. HE'S A DEAR BUT PAINFULLY OLD FASHIONED. HE PLAYED ONE EVENING FOR A CENT A POINT AND ACTUALLY THOUGHT HE WAS GAMBLING. DON'T YOU LOVE IT?

"CORRIGAN"
by EDMUND SNELL
I — CORRIGAN'S WAY
BEGIN HERE TODAY
Corrigan, proprietor of the great Orang-Puteh estate, is bound for Borneo in the little Dutch coasting schooner, Haufah. Another passenger on the boat is Mrs. Irene Matheson. Corrigan's great first tells the brutal first mate, who has been abusing a native woman aboard ship. The gaudy act is applauded by Mrs. Matheson.

The captain of the Haufah demands that Corrigan apologize to the mate, which Corrigan refuses to do. Finding they have 24 hours in Labuan, Corrigan and Mrs. Matheson go ashore. As they cross the gangway, the mate shakes his fist at them and swears venomously. Now Corrigan and Irene Matheson are strolling past a row of Chinese shops, stopping now and then to examine the wares of the most sleepy settlements on the earth's surface. The tropic sun blazed relentlessly down from its realm of infinite blue.

"Who is your husband, Mrs. Matheson?"
"Mr. Matheson!" she smiled back at him.
Corrigan grinned. "I know all that. But what's he do, I mean?"
"I think you should," she said huskily, stirring up the soil with the end of her parasol. "Hope-Matheson is his full name."

"Hope-Matheson!" echoed Corrigan. "Hope-Matheson!" He was searching in his brain for something that would account for the familiarity of the name. Suddenly he started. "Good God!" he muttered under his breath.

They turned in at the door of the freshly painted Rest House, and sat down at a table by the window.
"It's cooler in here," said Corrigan, and felt for his cigarette. The tips of his fingers touched something which lay at the bottom of the ashtray, and he picked it up. It was a card, and he had forgotten entirely. He brought it out and placed it on the table in front of her. It was a card carved in bone, with a broad, round head and a tail like a pug's. The head and neck had been gilded in paint, and there was a red line running round the neck and patches in red and gold on either side of its body. The whole affair was no bigger than the nail of his index finger.

"What do you think of that?" he demanded, grinning broadly.
She picked it up and let it balance on the palm of her hand.
He did not notice the queer light that flashed suddenly into her brown eyes, nor that the image shook as she held it. He was shouting something in Malay to the Chinaman behind the improvised bar.

"He said, swinging his chair round to her side, 'You know I patched up that brown girl on the boat? Well, I didn't want to take the thing, but she made me have it. She told me she could read the future like a book. She declared that there was only two cats like that in existence—and the other one—'

He paused uncomfortably, feeling that her eyes rested on his own.
"Do go on, Mr. Corrigan," she implored him. "It sounds frightfully thrilling."

"The other one is in the possession of the girl I am destined to marry. Sounds pretty good rubbish, doesn't it? I've ordered you soda, sugar and lemon-juice, with plenty of ice. Will either to think of your loving husband?"

"Perfectly, thank you." She regarded him for a moment in silence. "Then there is hope for you, after all, Mr. Corrigan," she said.

He laughed aloud. "Yes, but what a hope, Mrs. Matheson!"
"If I ever come across her," declared Irene Matheson, "I'll be sure and let you know."

"Thanks, I'm sure you will." The boy placed a tray between them.
Her brows wrinkled. "I wonder if you'd mind," she said, musingly, "Corrigan stirred the fluid in his glass."

"Of course I'd rely on you to judge—if she were—well, in any way suitable," he retorted slyly.
"It's a tall order, you know," she told him, "I'll promise to do that, too. Would you really come, do you think?"

"From the ends of the earth!" declared Corrigan, bringing both fists on to the table—"at your recommendation!"

A shadow crossed the doorway and Corrigan looked up to see a man, enormously tall, with a small head, peached ridiculously between massive shoulders. He stopped as he entered and stood, with folded arms gazing down at them, swaying from side to side.

"Mr. Matheson!" she smiled back at him.
Corrigan grinned. "I know all that. But what's he do, I mean?"
"I think you should," she said huskily, stirring up the soil with the end of her parasol. "Hope-Matheson is his full name."

Busted Romance.
Dabney Ragland tells of an experience a friend of his had recently. He was with a Chatham girl. They were dancing lightly and he held her tightly in his manly arms. He closed his eyes for a time and danced here and there in ecstasy. She looked up into his face and suddenly his eyes opened. "Come, let's go out on the porch," he muttered thickly. He stole a glance at his partner. Never had he seen so ravishing a beauty. He could resist no longer. He took her in his arms.

"Oh, darling, I love you so. Say you will be mine." She looked again into his eyes.

"I'm not rich like Jawn Brown, and I haven't a car, or home, or cellar like him, but I do love you and want you terribly."

Two soft, snow white arms reached round his neck, and two ruby lips whispered in his ear: "Where is this man Brown?"

Battleship Texas Is Still Afloat

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 20.—Twice withstanding bombardments today by 14-inch shells and bombs fired from the battleship Texas, the uncompleted dreadnaught Washington still was afloat tonight about 30 miles off the Virginia capes. Tomorrow she may be subjected to an aerial attack in which nine bombing planes will take part and should she survive the Texas gunners again will try their hands at sending her to the bottom. The Texas opened her first attack today by firing a number of 14-inch shells at the upper or more exposed portion of the Washington's armor. Experts aboard the Texas to witness the tests, found on boarding the target according to information received here that except for big dents made in the armor and partial punctures in several places the Washington was not materially damaged and she had been in commission easily could have made port.
The second attack was made in more vital parts of the hull. This consisted of underwater charges fired against the craft to test the resistance of her hull. Shells also were fired at her after-section and amidships where her engines would have been located had she been completed. The Texas fired nine 14-inch shells and five under-water bombs, it was said, and at the end of the attack the observers found the hull practically free of water and her armor unpierced in a vital spot.

JEW BAITING IN RUMANIA

BUCHAREST.—The Rumanian Minister of Justice has gone to Jaseny, where a student the son of an ex-Danubian and Anti-Semite agitator was shot and killed the Prefect of Police and seriously wounded two of his subordinates.
The Minister will personally conduct an inquiry into the case. The Government fearing renewed agitation on the part of the Anti-Semites. The recent execution of a student who had attempted to take the life of a colleague suspected of betraying a plot against Jews, has, it is believed, encouraged the Anti-Semitic class. It is now considered necessary to strengthen the jury system in order to prevent such acquittals in future.—World-Wide

EXPECT WIRELESS

LONDON.—The "Daily News" understands that there have been important wireless developments in connection with the Beam system between Australia and England.
Experiments have been carried out successfully, it is stated, in connection with receiving signals practically without interference. Australia is now said to be satisfied that the Beam system can be operated on a 24-hour basis, and is communicating with the British Post Office Australia and New Zealand were in favor of the Marconi Company establishing a Beam station but the British Post Office favored the high-power station such as is now being built at Rugby.
Signor Marconi expected that the Beam station when in operation could work 400 words a minute, as against only 200 words on the high-power station.

RUMANIAN SCANDAL

An alleged case of falsifying passports in order to enable Transylvanian peasants to emigrate to the United States has taken a startling turn. The retired General Alexandre Vaitiano, brother of the Minister of Communications, was arrested, and on being brought before the examining magistrate, shot himself with a revolver, not, however, fatally.
In addition, M. Tousseau, Secretary in the Ministry of the Interior, and M. Franasovici, son-in-law of the General in custody, have resigned. The newspapers speak of political influences being connected with the case.

SCOTTISH CHURCH AND RADIO

GLASGOW.—The broadcasting of church service on Sundays was the subject of a report laid before the Glasgow Presbytery of the Church of Scotland.
The report was the sequel to a motion submitted at a previous meeting deprecating the broadcasting of services during the ordinary hours of worship as tending to keep people away from church and to destroy the sense of corporate service.—World Wide

WOULD STOP SALE OF CHRISTMAS TREES

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A federal law to prohibit the sale of Christmas trees was advocated today by H. V. Berry of Fort Plain, N. Y., a delegate to the national conference on utilization of forest products.
"It is poor practice to teach children to have trees at Christmas," he said, "and to teach them to plant a tree next year. You are allowing them to do what you are seeking to prevent."

Big Crowd Watches Klan Ceremony at Henry County Seat

(Special to The Bee.)
MARTINSVILLE, Va., Nov. 20.—More than three thousand people witnessed the Ku Klux Klan ceremony last night at the Fair Grounds in which about four hundred robed figures played a part. The streets were lined with people from this community and others from the surrounding section when the parade took place. About one hundred Danville Klansmen were on hand and about eighty from Leesville. It is reported. The Fair Grounds had been roped off and spectators were held a safe distance from the actual scene of the ceremony in the course of which the fiery cross was seen burning.

IMPORTANT MEETING ON DISARMAMENT PROTOCOL

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, Nov. 21.—The protocol on disarmament and security framed at the last assembly of the league of nations was the subject of an important conference at the foreign office last night between Premier Herriot, Leon Bourgeois, former Premier Briand and Paul Boncour. The result was to confirm the conference's opinion that France was correct in accepting the British request that consideration of the protocol by the league could be deferred.

France, however, has no intention of scrapping the protocol, although if this appeared desirable she would not refuse to envisage a more complete solution of the problem, says the usually well informed Matin.

The French viewpoint remains for the moment unchanged, the paper declares. "France signed the protocol of Geneva, which must be ratified before the disarmament conference can meet. Certainly, two other signatures are still necessary—the Italian and the British or Japanese—but the French government in no way considers their final ratification is improbable." The present postponement on the contrary will permit additional study which will be highly useful in view of the complexity of the problems involved. None is master of the future, and it is evident that failure of the Geneva project is not absolutely impossible. If it should unfortunately occur, some sections could then be envisaged in conformity with the ideas now being put forward on the other side of the channel and the other side of the act.

ACTRESS FLEES FROM LOVE OF WEALTHY YOUTH

Pretty Dancer Sails to Escape Young Heir, But Heir Catches Same Boat

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, Nov. 21.—The Majestic has sailed for New York carrying one of the few actresses who ever fled from the love of an heir to millions. But the heir to millions caught the same boat.

The characters in the latest romance of society and stage are Alexander Hamilton, of 32 East 38th St., New York, and Dora Duby, American brunette beauty who has been spending her vacation in Europe by dancing at a famous Paris cabaret, the "Perroquet."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Plerson Hamilton. His mother was formerly Juliet B. Morgan, a niece of Piermont Morgan. Young Hamilton, who is only 18, made the usual American pilgrimage to Montreux one night and saw the delightful Dora dancing at the Perroquet. He fell in love. Through the kindly offices of the head waiter he met Dora but she fled from the attentions of the extremely personable heir to millions.

Dora's friends declare that a week after their meeting Alexander proposed, but the dancer told him he was too young. His attentions becoming insistent Dora secretly arranged to sail on the Majestic, but her program leaked out at the last minute and as a result young Hamilton, after a heroic rush to Cherbourg, caught the ship.

Hamilton's friends assert that he is serious and intends to ask his parents consent to the marriage. This is said to be Dora's stipulation before she will give her consent. Dora lives with her parents at 105 West street New York.

LOUNGE LIZARDS ARE NOT WANTED IN NAVY

(By Universal Service.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today issued a call for more "high-flying young men,—not sheiks or lounge lizards but young officers who might make good material for the aviation corps. He wants additional volunteers for the officer flying school at Lukehurst, which will supply crews for the two dirigibles recently constructed and now protected by the great hangar located there.

Pittsylvania Baptists
To Hold Big Rally

Preparations are being made by the Pittsylvania Baptist Association for an all-day rally to be held at the First Baptist church in this city next Tuesday, Nov. 25.
Among the speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. McElroy, of Norton, Va., State President of the Baptist-Woman's Missionary Union, and Dr. E. Y. Cullins, president of the Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky.
Mrs. J. P. Craft, president of the Woman's Missionary Union of Pittsylvania Association, chairman of the program committee, will be assisted by leaders of circles and other members of the M. S. and the Young Woman's Association.
Mrs. Charles Mahan, leader of the Young Woman's Association, and a number of its members, will present a Missionary pageant during the day.
Lunch will be served at the church.

C. C. SHEPHERD, FORMER RESIDENT, CRITICALLY ILL

Friends of C. C. Shepherd, formerly a well known Danville resident and business man, but who has been living for years near Green Pond church, Pittsylvania county, will learn with regret that he is critically ill of pneumonia, both lungs being affected. At his age the illness takes on an even more serious aspect.

DIRECTOR SEYMOUR MEETS WITH SCOUT-MASTERS HERE

Regional Director Roy F. Seymour of the Boy Scout organization for the States of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania and District of Columbia, was a visitor in Danville yesterday and met last night with the scout-masters of this city and a few of the boys who were invited in. Mr. Seymour is said to have had an informal question and answer meeting with the scout-masters in which he conveyed much information as to the methods of work and the approved direction and conduct of the movement. Mr. Seymour also had a meal with the Kiwanis Club while here.

CHILDREN'S SPECIAL
MATINEE AT MAJESTIC TODAY

Ralph D. Tompkins, one leg dancer, will personally conduct a school children's surprise show at a special matinee at the Majestic Theatre, Friday, November 21st, at 3:30 P. M.
Besides the pictures and regular program with the added offering of Tokey, the foot juggler, Mr. Tompkins will conduct a number of contests awarding valuable prizes to the winners. An expensive silver prize will be given to the boy or girl who makes the most words from the letters in the name "Tompkins." No letter can be used twice in the same word and proper names will not count.

At this special matinee Mr. Tompkins will stage a surprise party in which a number of local children will take part. A two-minute lecture on "Safety First" will be an educational feature when Mr. Tompkins will tell a dramatic story of his own childhood. In addition to the many prizes awarded to the winners in the contests, each child in the theatre will receive a present at the conclusion of the show.

Tell Me, Girls

which beauty aid you want
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am trying to aid girls to more beauty. In ways that brought beauty to me. I am trying to bring women the person al youth I gained.

For 10 years I have searched the world for the best beauty helps in existence. I continue this search for the best.

Now 32 of the helps I found are combined in four preparations. All toilet counters supply them. So every girl and woman may use exactly what I use.

The thousands who meet me daily on the store see what these helps can do. I urge you to learn what they mean to you.

My Youth Cream

My Youth Cream is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both nature and science. Also, all the best help science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do.

The cost is 60c per jar.

My Facial Youth

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I also owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs.

All the dirt, grease, grime and dead skin come out with it. My Facial Youth will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay

A new-type clay, white refined and dainty. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed. The final result of 20 years of diligent study.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and makes it receptive of the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rose complexion which amazes and delights. Combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. And many women seem to drop ten years after an application. My White Youth Clay costs 50c and $1.

My Hair Youth

The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff and never a touch of gray.

A concentrated product combining many rare herbs. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats all the stifled hair roots. It tones and stimulates. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty helps. Edna Wallace Hopper, 535 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

RAKOVSKY'S ARRESTED

(World-Wide News Service)
WARSAW—The arrest has been made at Sosnowice of Waldenberg, a Polish Jew, for conducting intensive Bolshevik propaganda in the Polish coal district. Waldenberg was a director of the Ukrainian Committee in Kharkoff and on its suppression became chief of the Committee at Moscow, where he often took Rakovsky's place. A search brought to light many compromising papers, among which were documents proving that Waldenberg was a special emissary of the Third Internationale.

Husband Is Foiled in Divorce Action

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20.—The Virginia supreme court of appeals denied a writ of prohibition to Harrison L. Sims who sought to prevent Judge John W. Fishburne of the Madison county circuit court from re-opening a divorce action at the request of Mrs. Carrie Sims.

Sims was granted a divorce several months ago from Mrs. Sims who was not present in court at the time and a copy of the order was mailed to her last known address. She appeared, however, within the two years period allowed by law and filed a cross bill to her husband's complaint. The appellate court upheld the action of Judge Fishburne in reopening the case, declaring that the mailing of a copy of the circuit court's order did not constitute service of process and that the defendant had a right to appear at any time within two years and complain of any injustice which she thought had been done her.

5000 MEN TO LOSE JOBS IN THE RUHR

COLOGNE—The French administration restored the metallurgical cokery at Gelsenkirchen to the owners, the Rhein-Elbe Mining Union, and during the next few days three coal mines, which have hitherto been occupied and used for supplying the needs of the French Regie will be handed back.

Out of twelve thousand men who were fully occupied in these four concerns it is anticipated that five thousand will be thrown out of work. In order to cope with the requirements of the Regie the mines worked at high pressure but, with more ample sources of supply and the large stocks available elsewhere, these mines will be subject to the prevailing slump.

THREE YEARS TO MAKE LINCOLN FILM

George Billings as Abraham Lincoln

Al and Ray Rockett, the young producers of "Abraham Lincoln," which is scheduled to show at the Broadway Theatre commencing Monday, spent nearly three years transferring to the screen the life of this great patriot. Experts on the life of Lincoln were called to aid them. All of the places connected with the life of Lincoln were visited and an exact replica of the village of Salem where Lincoln first gained fame was built.

TO FUSE ALL FORCES OPPOSED TO HYLAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Plan to fuse forces opposed to Mayor Hyman into one body for the 1925 election are under way. Joseph M. Price, who has led fusion campaigns in previous elections, heads the movement which seeks to align all anti-Tammany interests into a homogenous non-partisan organization to fight Mayor Hyman and the rest of the Democratic city and county ticket in next year's election. He reported tonight the movement was making unlooked for progress.

John Wirth, Republican minority leader in the board of aldermen, announced plans to seek an investigation into the New York city police department by the supreme court. The investigation would be into persistent rumors that graft and corruption are rampant among members of the force engaged in the enforcement of the liquor and vice laws and would be based on a precedent established by former Supreme Court Justice Gaynor who similarly ordered investigation of the administration of former Mayor Van Wyck.

Brilliant Wedding for Miss Anne Whelan

(By Universal Service.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—One of the most brilliant weddings of the season took place today when Miss Anne Elizabeth Whelan, daughter of the president of the United Cigar Stores, and Gilbert Kahn, son of Otto H. Kahn, banker and art patron, were married in the Italian garden of the Ambassador hotel. It was attended by 500 members of New York's wealthiest and most aristocratic families.

The marriage united families owning more than $200,000,000. The bride and the young couple were valued at more than $1,000,000, the most striking being a diamond and emerald chain reaching below the waist presented by Mrs. Kahn.

The newlyweds will go to Hot Springs for their honeymoon, after which they will return to an eight-room apartment and young Kahn will start in on an $18 a week job with the Equitable Trust. His father will pay the expenses of his home.

President Coolidge Had But One Girl

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 21.—Burnings of love fire in the bosom of calm, cautious Calvin Coolidge may be hard to imagine. Yet Eros pricked the heart of the solemn man who presides in Washington—once.

The girl is still his sweetheart today.

Back in 1903, when Coolidge was a young lawyer here, and Grace Goodhue a teacher in the Clark School for the Deaf and Blind, they met.

Coolidge had spied the girl as he looked out of his window. A mutual friend introduced them.

Northampton was a small place, and news spread fast.

Cal was a-courting!

But he was not a fervid lover. He took Miss Goodhue on walks and he made punctilious calls upon her. He took her to none of the dances, for the young man was too bashful to dance.

Lucey Advises Him.

One day Coolidge dropped into the shop of James Lucey for a hat. Lucey was—and still is—the village shoemaker and philosopher.

"Look here, young man," Lucey said to Coolidge, pretending to be very cross. "You aren't getting anywhere!"

"You want to walk closer to Grace. Don't go up the street as if you didn't know her, for some of these other young men around town will come and walk between you."

"When you walk home with her tonight, walk very close. And when you get in her parlor, sit very close to her on the lounge."

"First look at her shoes. Tell her what pretty feet she has. Then look at her skirt. Tell her what a pretty dress she has on."

"Then look into her eyes. Tell her what wonderful eyes she has, and how you know she's going to make some young man a wonderful wife, and how you hope to be that man."

Whether Coolidge followed this advice or not will never be known. But a short time later their engagement was announced.

Cal Kept Silent.

But Cal knew little of the delicacies of dealings with the fair sex. He did not know that it was his place to ask her to name the wedding day. The school term closed. Miss Goodhue went to her home in Vermont, greatly puzzled. She did not know whether she should stay there and work on her trousseau, or whether she should make arrangements to return to the school the following term.

While she was in this quandary, Coolidge appeared at her home, dressed in his best clothes.

Miss Goodhue's father met him at the door.

"Up here on a business trip?" he asked.

"No-o, not a business trip," Coolidge replied, shifting to his other foot.

"On a pleasure trip?"

"No-o, that is, not exactly," Coolidge replied. "You see, I came up here to marry your daughter."

URGES BRANCH OF FEDERAL RESERVE FOR CHARLOTTE

(By The Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20.—A branch of the federal reserve bank of Richmond will be established at Charlotte, N. C., to serve the needs of North and South Carolina, if a recommendation of the board of directors of the local institution is accepted by the federal reserve board of Washington which has exclusive jurisdiction in the matter of establishment of branch banks.

In making this announcement today Chairman William W. Horton, of the local board of directors, said that the petition of the Richmond board for authority to establish such a branch, passed at a meeting of the directors held here Nov. 7, has been taken under advisement by the general board at Washington and a hearing at "some future date" has been granted the Richmond body to show cause why a branch should be established.

Establishment of the proposed branch bank will bring to successful conclusion efforts of Carolina bankers who have been petitioning and working for its establishment since 1921 when they first presented their application at a hearing granted them by the board of directors of the Richmond bank.

CAN PACK ALL SCENIC EFFECTS IN ONE TRUNK

BERLIN.—The exhibition of theatrical techniques being held in Berlin displays one interesting novelty in the way of scenery which should be a boon to traveling companies. It consists of a thin silk-like material which bears the name of "silk-moulette" and which is capable of taking on any appearance, opaque or transparent, refrigent or shadowy. In any perspective desired according to the adjustment of the lighting arrangements. It is cut to any required shape and inflated by special apparatus, when it takes on the exact form of the time-honored sets painted on or made of far heavier material that everybody knows. The material can be used not only substitute for wood, cardboard, and linen backcloths, but for all kinds of dresses and synthetic jewelry.

To pack the entire scenic effects and costumes of a well-mounted play of many acts in one's traveling trunk has doubtless been beyond the wildest hopes of managers of stock companies on tour, and this will be a possibility if silk-moulette does all that is claimed for it.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE
This surprised Goodhue.
"Why, I don't think she's ready," she exclaimed.

"Well," said Coolidge, his natural calm returning to him as he took a seat on the porch, "I'll wait then."

It may have been sudden news to the girl that they were to be married right away, but she was prepared for the ceremony in a few months. They were married on Oct. 4, 1905.

And, say their friends, they are

A WORD TO WOMEN

A hundred and twenty-one thousand women would comprise a vast army. Yet a canvass was recently made among more than that number of women who had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for feminine ailments. The result proved that ninety-eight out of every hundred reported benefit from its use. This is most remarkable evidence of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of womanhood, and should influence every sick and ailing woman to try it.

PLAN WAGNER FESTIVAL AGAIN NEXT SUMMER

BERLIN.—Stegfried Wagner announces from Bayreuth that the financial success of this year's Wagner festival has encouraged him to decide upon another one next summer. He states that although by no means disposed to favor any excesses in the way of modern staging and setting, he is entirely in favor of new decorations in cases where the old ones proved themselves inadequate. At the same time defending himself from the onslaughts of the critics, who were particularly cruel in their attacks upon "Parsifal," acts I and III. The money made this season will be used for the technical equipments found necessary to satisfy modern requirements in the way of scene shifting and illumination.

STINK BOMBS THROWN ON POLITICAL PARADE

BERLIN.—What the junkers indignantly described as "provocation" of Potsdam was carried out triumphantly when Republicans from all parts of Germany assembled in the famous centre of Hohenzollernism and pledged themselves solemnly to defend the Republic.

Special trains from Berlin carried about 8,000 members of the organization to Potsdam, and 200 flags were carried in the procession, which to the music of a dozen bands marched through the streets of Potsdam to the central square where a solemn dedication of the flags took place.

The threats of the Potsdam junkers to prevent "sacrilege" to Frederick the Great's town were not carried out.

A few stink-bombs were thrown on the procession from private balconies, but the Hohenzollern princes, ex-court officials, ex-officers, and their supporters stayed at home.

TIME TO FACE THE FACTS

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years' doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. C. McCall's Drug & Seed Store, 108 N. Union street, and druggists everywhere.—adv.

SHORTAGE OF MINISTERS WORRIES PROTESTANTISM

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Shortage in adequately trained ministerial leadership is one of the most serious problems facing Protestantism, the Rev. D. D. Forsyth, corresponding secretary of the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church said in a report today at the annual meeting of the board.

Quoting from a statement by the American religious and social surveys, Dr. Forsyth said in the 101-000 Protestant churches in America, fifteen per cent. had full time resident ministers; 18 per cent. only part time service; 54 per cent. absentee and that 13 per cent. were without pastors.

TURK DELEGATE IS TO ENLIGHTEN THE LEAGUE

CONSTANTINOPLE.—An Ankara official communiqué says that the government has dispatched the chief Turkish exchange of populations delegate, Tewfik Rushdy, to Brussels with instructions to reject the competence of the League to take up the difficulty regarding the Constantinople Greeks. He will also explain that the Turkish point of view consists of an integral application of the local laws regarding domicile and registration.

The communiqué naively expresses surprise that "despite the Exchange Commission having met with no difficulties in the exercise of its functions," Greece has appealed to the League of Nations, adding that the Commission alone is competent to take such a decision. The government is therefore only sending Rushdy to "enlighten the League."

POOL MANAGER HOWLED DOWN

DARK LEAF GROWERS DEMAND LOOSE LEAF SALES

OWENSBORO, Ky., Nov. 15.—In a stormy session of more than 2,000 tobacco growers, a resolution was adopted by practically unanimous vote calling upon the directors of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association to allow the poolers in the Green River district to sell their 1924 crop of tobacco by the loose-leaf method at auction over the association's floors.

The auction came after speeches had been delivered by Robert M. Stuart and George M. Rudy, directors for Davies county, who declared that no preparation had been made for the handling of this year's pooled crop.

Cooper Howled Down.

R. E. Cooper, general manager of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association, was in attendance at the meeting and attempted to make a speech at the conclusion of Mr. Rudy's talk, but was howled down by the crowd.

"I am going to take the sentiment of this meeting on whether the poolers want to sell this year's crop of tobacco immediately or put it in wood," said Mr. Rudy.

There were calls for Mr. Cooper to be allowed to speak.

"I paid for the advertisement calling this meeting. When we get through Mr. Cooper can speak."

By way of introducing Mr. Cooper, Mr. Rudy said:

"Mr. Cooper became a farmer in 1922, when he bought a little farm with a little tobacco on it. He was made chief warehouse man at a salary of $15,000 a year. This year he was made general manager at a salary of $18,000 a year. His brother was given a position at $7,200 a year. He sold his farmhouse in Hopkinsville to the pool. He did not set a price on it. He let Charles Rogers then a director from Davies county, set the price."

Mr. Cooper began his speech by saying that it has been suggested to him by President Broadbent, of the association, to attend today's meeting, it being a meeting of members of the association.

"I have nothing to say in defense of any charge made against me personally," said Mr. Cooper. "I sacrificed my business to help the association," continued Mr. Cooper.

"Don't do it any more," came a request from the crowd.

"The association was formed for the purpose of raising the standard of the American farmer," said Mr. Cooper.

"And rob the poor farmers," called out a heckler from the audience.

At this point the noise in the large Davies County loose leaf house, where it was necessary to hold the meeting had become so great that F. M. Humphreys, director from Hancock County, mounted the platform and appealed to the crowd to give Mr. Cooper a fair hearing.

"If you don't want to hear Mr. Cooper, Mr. Cooper doesn't want to go any further," said Mr. Humphreys. "I am very much surprised that a Davies County audience should act in this manner," Mr. Cooper left the platform and declined to speak further to the crowd.

Will Sign Agreement.

Delegations were in attendance from McLean, Hancock, Ohio and Spencer counties favoring the immediate sale of the pooled 1924 crop of tobacco. Before the meeting adjourned a resolution offered by Judge E. P. Taylor was adopted calling on the local directors to make an effort during the next ten days to get 90 per cent. of the land owners to sign the pooling agreement, in the event they failed to get the consent of the pool directors to allow the sale of the crop by the local leaf auction method.—adv.

GRID TEAMS ANXIOUSLY AWAITING THE ZERO HOUR

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Football squads of the east break camp today and await the zero hour, Rumbly and a few coaches and trainers that too much practice scrimmaging is the worst thing that can be done to a football outfit. In the two weeks before the Yale game, the Dartmouth eleven reduced scrimmaging to a minimum and this practice obtained in Hanover throughout the remainder of the season. Results have certainly been favorable.

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—One of the most important developments of the present football season—perhaps the most important—is the discovery of too much practice scrimmaging is the worst thing that can be done to a football outfit. In the two weeks before the Yale game, the Dartmouth eleven reduced scrimmaging to a minimum and this practice obtained in Hanover throughout the remainder of the season. Results have certainly been favorable.

Yale in the week between her game against Maryland and Princeton did not scrimmage at all. Tad Jones had intended some hard practice but yielded to the advice of the trainer, George Conners, and his assistants. Certainly Jones can boast no regrets that he followed counsel so sagely. The secret of Princeton's ability to play a hard game against Harvard year after year and then meet Yale without apparent loss of vitality and endurance has been because of Keene Fitzpatrick's policy of few scrimmages. Princeton's perceptible sag against Yale this year related entirely to attack, not to defense and thus due to psychology, which plays so important a part in modern football—rather than physical.

Wise trainers throughout the country have come to learn that the grind of constant scrimmaging against scrub of freshmen elevens takes more out of the varsity than games against regular opponents much more. Many a varsity man has told the writer that the "grind" of daily scrimmaging caused him to lose upon regular games very much in the light of recreation. Trainers and coaches throughout the country who have not fallen in with this trend could adopt it with absolute benefit to their teams.

PERFECT MAN IS PREDICTED

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The production of the perfect man by regulation of glands is predicted by Dr. E. Rodney Fiske, of New York. Speaking yesterday at the convention of the eastern homeopathic medical association he said that recent discoveries concerning the functioning of glands of the human body had paved way for production of the perfect man.

Dr. Wm. H. Diefenbach, an X-ray specialist, also from New York, said that by proper control of the function of glands a "fountain of youth" would be discovered as failure of the glands to function was the cause of old age.

"By properly regulating man's glands," said Dr. Fiske, "we will not only be able to help his mental characteristics but also his physical appearance. It will be all or short, fat or thin; whether his voice shall be tenor or bass."

Jury Holds Sale of Home Brew Material Legal

(By Universal Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 21.—Sale of home-brew materials is legal, a Federal court jury held this afternoon in acquitting two officials of the Marx Brewing company. The action sets a nation-wide precedent.

The two men, Gus Brandes and Theodore Hoefrich, were alleged to have sold malt juice and other ingredients of beer and to have imparted information on methods of brewing.

do for Harvard because of injuries. Daily, the husky freshman hurt in the Princeton engagement, also will be out. But the Crimson assets have been well guarded throughout the week and Bob Fisher may have some surprises to turn loose on the confident eleven developed by Tad Jones. With Fisher reported on the point of resigning as Harvard mentor, the announcement that Jones will remain at New Haven for at least three years more came almost on the eve of the battle. Odds on Yale are falling as the hour for the battle approaches.

Yale men seem unwilling to risk their chances on the season's record of the elevens, realizing that when the whistle blows in the bowl at two o'clock, Harvard will be anything but a beaten team and will fight to the last ditch.

Generals Have Won 3, Tied One

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 21.—Washington and Lee, one of three undefeated football teams in the southern conference, has won three games and played one scoreless tie. The Generals, however, have two conference games to play, meeting North Carolina State in Raleigh Thanksgiving day and Florida in Jacksonville, December 6th, the only game between conference teams played after Thanksgiving. The other undefeated teams in conference ranks are Georgia, with five victories and Alabama with four.

Washington and Lee has scored victories over Maryland, Kentucky and Virginia. The Generals' game with V. P. I. Gobblers resulted in a draw.

Other games Washington and Lee has played include a defeat at the hands of Wake Forest, a victory over Roanoke, a win from the Citadel and defeat by West Virginia.

The blight has seriously damaged the European potato crop in recent years.

Red Grange to Be Honored Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—All Wheaton, Illinois, plans to honor its famous son, Harold "Red" Grange, Illinois

all-American back, at a banquet there tonight.

Coach Bob Zuppke, of the University of Chicago, will be present.

Lyle N. Grange, Dupage county deputy sheriff, father of "Red" will be one of the honor guests.

A man in love will do anything, but he usually does nothing.

FOOTBALL SEASON IN WEST TO END IN 'BLAZE OF GLORY'

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Most of the middle west's football teams relaxed today after two months of the strenuous regimen of bruising practice, training table diet and huddling to keep up in studies, with the season ending tomorrow in what promises to be an unusually brilliant "blaze of glory."

There remained some rough edges to smooth here and there, however, and occasionally a team unsatisfied with its preparation for the concluding contest. For the most part it has been "said and done" through, with tomorrow's games to indicate just how well done, and the remainder of the winter for the saying part.

Tomorrow decides the championship, however, with Chicago players having the best chance to get their little golden football emblematic of the Big Ten title by downing Wisconsin. Only if the Maroons falter could the title rest with Illinois, the early season pace setter Michigan, or Iowa.

Featherweights to Meet Tonight In Elimination Bouts

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Three featherweight championship contenders will emerge tonight from the elimination tournament sponsored by the New York boxing commission to determine a successor to Johnny Dundee, who relinquished his crown.

Lou Paluso, of Salt Lake City; Danny Kramer, of Philadelphia; Joe Lombardo, of Panama; Bobby Garcia, of Camp Holabaird, Maryland; Kid Kaplan, of Meriden and Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, Illinois, are in the competition. Kaplan meets Garcia. Kramer faces Dundee and Lombardo faces Pauluso. Of the three elimination winners, two will meet in a semi-final three weeks later and the other will draw.

LATEST IN BASEBALL

(By Universal Service.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A special detective department is the latest in Major League "Winter Stove League baseball." The rumor has it that a New York club owner whose name is not given, intends suggesting such a department to fellow magnates at the national and American leagues annual meeting here next month.
The mysterious club owner is said to think the department the best means of combating gambling and raffles on organized baseball and guarding against repetitions of scandals which have smothered the game.

JOE WILLIAMS

A reporter writes that Weinert made hamburger of Fippo. The burger part may have been Weinert's work but the ham was nature's own idea.

It seems to us that Willie Hoppe would have made a great football player. Always he seems to be making record-breaking runs.

Christy Mathewson says Mratt is the best catcher in baseball. Possibly Christy hasn't been in the game long enough to know about Muddy Ruel.

Having won from Harvard three straight times, one wonders why Brown doesn't step out and try conclusions with one of the big teams.

It was Mr. Kipling who said "He travels fastest who travels alone," and oddly enough he was not referring to the Notre Dame backfield.

The winter racing season has started. Unlike the summer racing season it is a freeze-out game in more ways than one.

Basketball does not draw very well in New York, probably because it is possible to buy a ticket without going to a scalper.

Mr. O'Geoffy wants to know how many of these here cross-country runners ever grow up to be what you might call first-rate messenger boys.

The two Jacks—Dempsey and Kearns—are going into the fight promoting business. One of the first fights they will not promote is Dempsey vs. Wills.

The Spartan mother's farewell to her boy was: "Come back with your shield or on it." Red Grange came back from Minnesota with a crushed rib and a torn shoulder and who is there to say he isn't a Spartan, too?

Tiger Flowers, the fighter knows the Bible backwards. Which reminds us that that is the way most moderns seem bent on interpreting it.

Wrestling Match to Aid Chest Fund

A sporting event extraordinary will be the Peters-Klonis wrestling match supplemented by a boxing bout and with band music and other features scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock in the basement of the Municipal Building under the direction of Promoter Moody. An unique and interesting phase of tonight's wrestling exhibition is the fact that 10 per cent. of the receipts will be donated to the Community Chest fund and that both wrestlers will also donate $5 each to that fund. As part of the effort of the promoters to popularize the athletic and sport events in Danville, ladies are invited and will be admitted free. Nothing that can offend the most fastidious will occur.

The exhibition of scientific wrestling—by "Cyclone" Peters, a skillful exponent of the mat game, and John Klonis, a well known wrestler who will uphold the honors of the young republic of southern Europe. The two wrestlers have never met in a match, but each of them has been seen here in matches with others. Both are middle-weights and have fine records on the mat. As usual, the honors will be decided in the best two of three falls, and as both men are skilled in the use of all the various holds and the artifice of the sport and also vigilant in eluding the strategy of the opponent, some fine wrestling is anticipated. Cyclone Peters arrived here yesterday and Klonis will be on hand with all his skill and prowess in an effort to wrest the honors from the Exhonian.

Special arrangements are being made for a large crowd tonight and everything has been provided to assure the comfort and the enjoyment of the patrons. The seating capacity of the new amphitheatre is about 500.

An extra good boxing card is announced for this evening by Mr. Moody. The competitors in the art of fistiana are local products—Charles Moss, of Schoolfield, and Ralph Smith, of the Danville "Y", both of whom are regarded as skillful young boxers.

During the events of the evening the Salvation Army will operate a canteen, proceeds of which will go to the work of that organization. Refreshments will be on sale in the hall. Add to this the fact that the Artillery band will dispense music throughout the evening, and a varied program is issued. Attendance of many ladies is anticipated.

The demand for a man who is interested in someone besides himself always exceeds the supply.

Ruth, who set 50 as his 1924 home run goal, fell just shy of the mark.

George Kelly of the Giants is the most versatile player in the National League.

Sully Montgomery, who held Romero-Rojas to a draw recently, is a product of the college gridiron.

Shortstop Peckinpaugh times his runners better than any other infielder in the majors.

Ermino Spalla and Georges Carpentier will have an affair of the fists in Monte Carlo in January.

It's a rarity in these days of open football for a team to go through a season without being scored on.

Jack Renault used to be sparring partner in Jack Dempsey's training camp.

Bob Meusel of the Yanks has the strongest, most accurate arm in the majors.

Blankenship of the White Sox has a fast ball that rivals Walter Johnson's for speed.

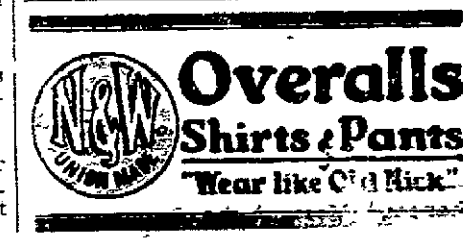

Jack Dempsey has no respect for Tommy Gibbons' hitting ability. "Tom's a nice boy, but he can't punch a lick," says the champion.

Yale's schedule is far from easy. It includes games with Brown, Georgia, Army, Dartmouth, Princeton and Harvard all tough battles.

Pittsburg's 7-1 tie with Syracuse kills Coach "Chick" Meenan's hope of having his eleven rated the best in the east.

Rockne of Notre Dame calls Gipp the greatest player of all time. Zuppke of Illinois says Grange, Warner of Stanford picks Jim "Thorpe," Ted Jones of Yale nominates Ted Coy, while Harvard is divided between Brickley and Mahan. Take your choice.

TURKS SMOKE PIPES
CONSTANTINOPLE.—The pipe craze has swept Turkey. The sale of pipes in Constantinople alone has increased 200 per cent. in the last four years, according to recent estimates. The pipe has become the most popular form of smoking almost overnight. There seems to be no explanation of the fad.

WILL TRY TO SEND 'WASHINGTON' DOWN

(By The Associated Press)
NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 19.—The battleship Texas, with a naval board of experts aboard, sailed from Hampton Roads this morning for the southern drill grounds off the Virginia Capes where the hulls of the uncompleted battleship Washington tomorrow will become a target for naval experiments with bombs and shells.

At the end of the tests the Texas will cut loose with her 14 inch rifles in an attempt to send what is left of the Washington to the bottom. The whole performance probably will end before Saturday night.

Untried Recruits in Crimson Squad

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Bob Fisher is leading his Crimson brigade to attack Yale in what may be the last great battle for the mentor who succeeded the late Percy D. Houghton as football coach at Harvard.

Fisher, it is reported, will retire in the Cambridge eleven, which has been pummeled about in all its leading contests this year, fails to overcome the Bull Dog in the New Haven bowl Saturday. He is leading a force wrecked by gridiron warfare and his front will comprise a number of untied recruits, but behind them will be the support of thousands of valiant Harvard rooters.

Yale has trained dutifully for the "combat" and will present its most powerful combination. Its only weakness appears to be in the outposts where the condition of Gill, schooled in a major conflict, remains uncertain. Otherwise the Blue's phalanx is intact.

Tickets for the annual struggle have disappeared. Fourteen special trains will leave New York for New Haven Saturday morning.

BULGARIAN FEARS

(World-News Service)
BELGRADE.—The latest news from Bulgaria is that the Zankoff Government continues to take precautions against the Bulgarian political Agrarian emigrants now in Serbia, military measures having been adopted by M. Zankoff and his Ministers for the protection of the frontier. For this purpose, it is alleged, they have been secretly mobilizing men from 20 to 40 years of age, and in some places they have been repairing old trenches and constructing new ones.

RANCHERS GIVE UP THEIR POSITION

(By The Associated Press) LONE PINE, Inyo County, Cal., Nov. 20.—Evacuation of their stronghold at the Alabama control water gates of the Los Angeles water supply aqueduct, seized Sunday, was begun today by farmers and ranchers of the Owens valley, who, after a midnight council, agreed to terminate their wastage of the municipal water supply. Today the aqueduct was reopened after a four-day capture by the Owens valley people in their 20-year feud with Los Angeles over water.

Determination to permit the water of the valley once more to flow into the reservoirs for use by Los Angeles, was blighted by the Owens valley people upon a resolution adopted Tuesday by the Los Angeles clearing house association. This resolution was in effect that the crowd retired the bankers would use their best efforts to bring about an equitable settlement.

HIGH HANDED

(Greensboro Daily News) The Danville postmaster has been removed from office by a government inspector for no cause that has been made public save the meaningless phrase "for the good of the service." The Daily News knows nothing about the postmaster, the office, the manner in which the business has been conducted or any of the inspectors. Mr. Lumpkin may be a scoundrel of the first order or an admirable citizen but this newspaper, which has published items about his dismissal, has given no reason for it because none has been given by the inspectors. Nor so far as we have been able to find out, have Danville newspapers given any further information. Apparently none is available.

By throwing Mr. Lumpkin out of office the postoffice department leaves the impression that he has been guilty of wrong doing of some sort. If he has not his own good name ought to be protected to the extent of letting the truth be known. If he has been guilty, then the public, whose servant he has been, has a right to know. The present situation, by leaving everything in dark mystery, necessarily encourages any kind of rumor that may be invented.

From whatever angle the action is viewed it is far more high handed than the American people expect from their government.

REPORTS HEARD BY U. D. C. TODAY AT CONVENTION

Mrs. Woodbury Reports 3,417 Miles Now Included in Davis Highway

(By The Associated Press)

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 21.—A total of 3,417 miles now is included in the Jefferson Davis highway, Mrs. John L. Woodbury, Louisville, Ky., reported to the United Daughters of the Confederacy today.

In asserting that the work of the committee, of which she is chairman, is to have parts of state road system designated as the Jefferson Davis highway, to work for their development and to mark and beautify them, Mrs. Woodbury said there "is a wave of actual road construction which is country wide and the time to locate and name our Jefferson Davis highway is right now."

Eleven years have passed since the United Daughters of the Confederacy undertook the development of the highway, Mrs. Woodbury stated, paying a tribute to Miss Decca Lamar West of Texas, who led in the work for a long while.

The idea which has directed the course of the highway was that all the capitals of the Confederate states would be included, with many other places of historic interest. It was stated among the states now directly interested in developing the highway within their borders are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and California.

Among the other reports on the day's program were northern literature and endorsement of books, Miss Elizabeth Hanna, Florida; women of the south in wartime, Mrs. Edwin Robinson, West Virginia; Boulder to Jefferson Davis at Point Isabel Texas, Miss Decca Lamar West Texas, and monument to Jefferson Davis at his birthplace in Kentucky, Mrs. H. E. Morrison, North Carolina.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

(Courtesy Thomson and McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—It must be very evident that a new public has entered and taken possession of the stock market. There is a lot of noise—much of it sounds very foolish—about institutions and capitalists buying this stock and that stock for control. I repeat it is foolish because neither institutions nor capitalists compete with the public for the purchase of stocks. It is usually the reverse. They buy stocks when the public doesn't want them and they distribute them in times just like these. Look over the list a little bit and see the difference between the low prices of the year and the present prices on some of the lower priced rails. I find some of them are up 14 points, some 20 points, some 25, 30, 40 and 55 points. Do you imagine for a moment the seasoned capitalist buying the stocks at these prices? I, of course, have no means of knowing positively who is buying and who is selling but I will stand on my guess that it is the old buyer selling, a new public buying and a little later on the process will be reversed.

Auto Liability Is to Be Required in Martinsville Soon

(Special to The Bee.)

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Nov. 20.—The town council has adopted an ordinance, effective January 1st under the terms of which all owners of automobiles must provide themselves with automobile liability insurance. The minimum amount for damage to persons is $5,000 and the minimum for property damage is $1,500.

The town clerk and the town attorney have been instructed to take further steps looking to the designation of Martinsville as a city of the second class. A recent census showed the population to be in excess of 5,000. It is likely that a court order making the change will be applied for at the January term.

MORNING COTTON LETTER

(Courtesy Thomson and McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The estimate of the crop at 3 a. m. this morning is the only market information that will be considered today. I plead guilty of ignorance. The best traders I know are out of their cotton and are hoping to catch prices out of line after the report. In a general way I would buy March at 24 cents or sell at 25 cents still believing the ultimate course of prices depends on events which are yet to take place.

MORNING SUGAR LETTER

(Courtesy Thomson and McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Threatened labor troubles on the railroads of Cuba was a factor in stimulating further demand for spot raws with bids as high as 44¢ for practically the whole of December. The new crop, prospects, however, are so bright as to preclude expectations of lasting higher prices.
